

Language Access in Court-Ordered Services: Information for Justice Partners and Community Providers

Notifying the court about available language assistance

As a justice partner or private service provider of court-ordered services, your agency has an important role to play in ensuring full access to rehabilitative and correctional services for limited English proficient court users.

Under California Rules of Court, rule 1.300, courts are encouraged to keep a list of language-accessible services available in their geographic region and to provide this information on a neutral and non-endorsing basis to bench officers and litigants, as appropriate.

[ABC Superior Court] maintains a list of community providers offering language assistance with their services. If you are a service provider that offers language assistance in conjunction with court-ordered services and would like to be included on the court's list of providers, please fill out and submit form LA-350 Notice of Available Language Assistance - Service Provider.
